he was present at the battles of Fort Moultrie and Monmouth, and escaped capture at Morristown on a visit to his sick wife at Philadelphia. He was for a short time one of the aids of General Arnold, and it is remarkable that this spotted young men of so much purity and excellence of character as General Jacon Morris and General

MATTHEW CLARKSON. He became a settler on Morris's Patent in 1787, and so entirely unbroken was the wilderness at that time, that during his attendance on the Legislature of New-York as TRIBUNE. Origin of the Skaneateles Community.

To the Editor of The Tribune : I must crave your indulgence while I say a few words in reply to your remarks appended to my communication it The Tribune of Jan. 5, in relation to the origin of the Skaneateles Community, since silence on my part might be construed into a tacit acknowledgement that my position is indesensible. I promise, however, to be as short as the nature of the case will allow. Your inference, that the Skaneateles Community had its origin in Abolition, you say was not drawn from the single case of Mr. Collins, but from the general movement and tendency of the ultra Abolitionists, as evidenced in the career of Messis, Murray, Garrison, Rogers, &c. &c.; and Tou tell me that my own relation to the Religious and Political institutions and ideas of our time. strengthens your conviction of the truth of your statement. Now, of all the persons thus alluded to, I believe there is but one who sympathizes with the peculiar views of Mr. Collins, as set forth in his "Creed." I allude to Mr. Murray, of your city, though I do not know that even he would be willing to be placed in such a category. All the rest I know would not, unless some of them have undergone a radical change within a very short time, which I do not believe. What is there in the course and present attitude of Mr.

Garrison and his 'Liberator' to authorise your inference? Why, the poles are not wider asun der than Mr. Collins and he in respect to the distinguishing features of the Skaneateles Community as exhibited in its "Creed." If you had heard the Speech of Mr. Garrison at the Convention lately held in Boston, wherein he reviewed Mr. Collins's doctrines and scattered them to the four winds with sound Anti-Slavery arguments, you would at least have omitted his name from your list. I am confident that Mr. Rogers, of the Herald of Freedom, would also repudiate the doctrines of Mr. Colins in respect to Property, Marriage, and Ac. countability. Certainly I have never seen any hing from his pen to warrant the inference that he is in sympathy with them. As to Stephen S. Foster, Abby Kelly, and Gerrit Smith, the remarks which I have made above in relation to Mr. Garrison would be none too strong if applied to them. Nav more, I venture to afirm, that all the persons whom you have named. and "ultra" Abolitionists generally, have less in common with the Skancateles Community than he Fourierists! As you have alluded to my own position as strengthening your conclusion, I may be pardoned for saying, that so far from my Abolitionism having led me to sympathise with the

it has been the very sheet-anchor which has prevented me from being driven upon those frightful breakers; for such I certainly deem them. But the tendencies of Abolition, you say, are toward a sweeping, radical revolution both in Church and State. This I have no disposition to deny, but I affirm that the revolution sought by Abolitionists will be far more likely to find its consummation in Associations established on the plan of Fourier, than in Communities like that it Skaneateles. More than this, the tendencies of Abolition are even now setting more strongly owards Fourierism than toward the peculiar docrines of Mr. Collins. That a part of his doctrines had their origin in Abolition, I cheerfully admit; so also part are derived from Grahamism and Fourierism; but its distinguishing features te modeled on the plan of Robert Owen, with thich Mr. Collins doubtless became acquainted uring his visit to England. To say that a comnunity thus constituted had its origin in Abolidon appears to me at once unjust and preposteous. Again I say, "let every tub stand on its own bottom." Why make Abolition a packlorse to earry the load which the Editor of that inprincipled sheet, the New-York Herald, atempted to throw upon the back of Fourierism? Let Mr. Collins's undertaking stand or fall upon its own merits. AN ABOLITIONIST.

IF We do not perceive that any thing more need be said on our side of this question. Those who do not detect, in the usual inculcations from the Abolitionists with regard to certain descriptions of Property and the iniquity of making compensation to slave-holders on the Abolition of Slavery, the germs of a sweeping denial of the lights of Property as defined by law-who do ot see in the Buffalo Anti-Slavery resolution thich declares a portion of the Federal Constitition a nullity, to be disregarded and defied even by those who have expressly sworn obedience to the whole Constitution, the foundation for a detial of the rightfulness of all Civil Government -(for a Government which we are to obey only when our individual convictions dietate the course it prescribes is just no Government at all)-those who are familiar with Mr. Gerrit Smith's doctrine, solemnly sanctioned by a State or National Anti-Slavery Convention, that a fugitive slave may and should take the horse, the wat, the food of innocent third parties, if necesary to his escape-his Sunday preaching of Abolition, &c. &c .- will judge how far our conaction of the tendency of Abolition to a sweepng Radicalism in Church and State is warranted Wfacts. Now, if our correspondent, or any body ese, can detect similar tendencies in the doctras or inculcations of the Whig or any other Political party, he is welcome to deduce the ne-Mary conclusions. Ed. This is not a new medicine. It has been known for years, and its healing influences have been felt by thousands in the vicinity where it has been sold. But no effort has ever before been made to introduce it to the public at large by means of the press. It has been left to work its way silently by its own intrinsic merits, and to desend for its celebrity upon actual experience and the wonderful cures it has effected. The experience and the bronderful cures it and effected. The extent of these, and the high and just reputation which it has thus acquired, are manifest from hundreds of testimonials, folluntarily lumished to the proprietor by gentlemen of the medical profession and others who have tried it. These complaints are of a most insidious character. They commence with a slight cold, or with some trifling ailment, which, being at first neglected, leads to in-fishmation, and slowly advance step by step until the con-
